

Bassetlaw District Council Work Experience Prospectus

Bassetlaw District Council's Work Experience Prospectus is proving really popular with local schools. A recent work experience pupil said "it's really great being able to see what the Council actually does – I had no idea just how much they do! I also found coming in for an interview helpful. I saw where I was going to work and met some of the people I would be working with which meant I wasn't nervous for my first day. The service also put together a programme of work for me for the two weeks – so I got to try lots of different things"

Bassetlaw's prospectus, which was produced with the help of the Nottinghamshire Education and Business Alliance, is not just for school pupils – although that was the target audience when it was first produced. We also encourage applicants from all ages.

People are finding out that working in local government can be an interesting and rewarding place to work and offers a whole variety of career opportunities.

If you are interested in viewing a copy of the prospectus just log on to www.bassetlaw.gov.uk and you will find it there or alternatively contact Gillian Blenkinsop@bassetlaw.gov.uk.
